Jane
When you marry and have 25, don't call it a family call it a tribe. Good luck
in the coming years

Long, long ago, a Viking was feared and respected wherever he went. This hero of the Northland left his mark on the land, the people, and most important, the heritage of the Old World.

He was a giant of a man with broad shoulders and sinewy limbs—a man of great strength. Many traits that he developed within himself helped him gain the respect of everyone with whom he came in contact.

Sometimes after the evening meal had been eaten, his father would tell him tales of heroic deeds done on some distant shore, and the child would dream of someday doing valorous things.

During his growth into manhood, the boy kept his body strong and fit by exercising it. Hunting food for his family and playing games of skill with the other boys in the community helped him to become agile. He was anxious to learn, and he learned quickly the things which the village pedagogue taught about the stars, the earth, the sea and especially about people.

Finally, the day of which he had dreamed for so long came. He was called upon to fight his first battle in protection of his people. Armed with a helmet of gold, a flashing sword and a shining shield, the young man charged fearlessly into battle, and proved himself worthy to wear the honored name of "Viking."

But courage was not his only trait. He was loyal and willing to fight for a cause that was just. He was not afraid of hard work and he never grumbled when it fell his lot to do the meanest tasks. He had a keen sense of humor; and it was usually difficult to make him angry, because he was quick to forgive anyone who crossed him. The Viking was constantly in search of new fields to conquer, both in warlike situations and in the field of learning to live better with his fellow man. He was daring enough to leave his homeland in a ship, to sail unknown waters, and to discover the New World almost five hundred years before Columbus began his expedition.

The Viking was a man of wonders, and we of North Forsyth are proud to be identified with him. As Vikings this year we worked for and developed some of the same traits of loyalty and honor that would make us worthy of not merely the Viking name, but the Viking spirit.

Mom, It has been great knowing you. Lots of luck in the future. May God Bless you always.

P.S. Don't forget Elizabeth our math class especially Mr. Thomas.

The beginning of a new year . . .
for many, the beginning of a new life
— a life as Vikings. Vastness . . . a huge, strange world of science labs and gymnasiums, art classes and study halls, lunch lines and Latin lessons. A challenge . . . to work . . . to learn . . .
to be worthy of the Viking name.

Jane, in great in It's been with you sweet the library. Start as sweet this year. are and will see

 We enjoyed knowing you this year. You're a real sweet girl with a wonderful personality. Best wishes in the future. Pam Melaga '69

The administrative staff helps North to create and maintain a personality. In addition to aiding North in technical areas, the staff handles business items and financial matters for the school. Staff members deal with the students and take care of the disciplinary matters. The assistant principals manage the buses, text book distribution and absences. Working with the faculty the staff gives assistance whenever needed.

A long, important walk.

Jane
 We'll goas what school out be sweet
 and see you next year.

"What courses do I take for admittance to college?" "Which tests does Carolina require?" "Which colleges are best for math majors?" These are only a few of the many questions students asked, and the guidance department is where the answers are found. Guidance counselors change schedules, aid in S. A. T. applications and transcripts, calculate class rank and help with scholarship applications.

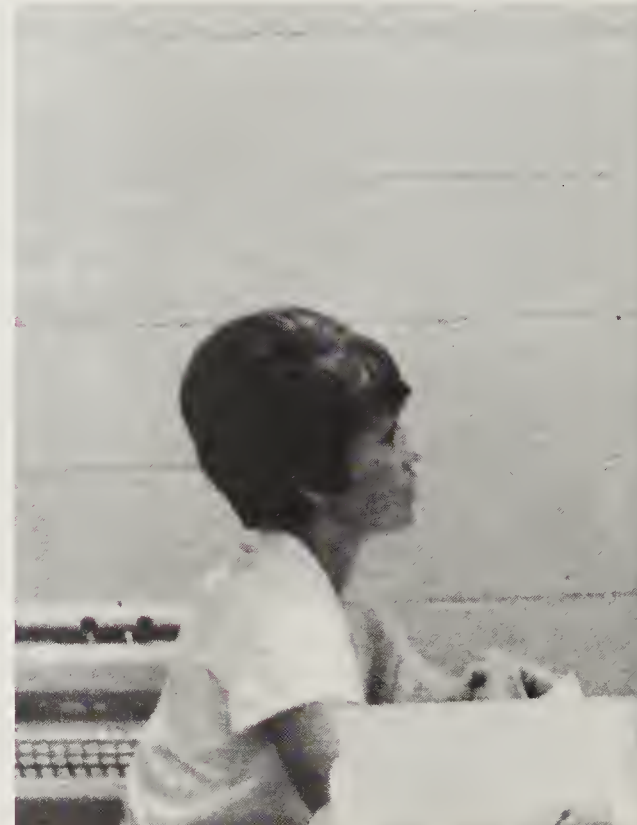

Mr. Tommy E. Pickel is the senior class guidance counselor. He holds an A. B. degree from Pfeiffer College and a Master's degree in Education from UNC-G.

Mrs. Hauser helps in assembly.

Mrs. Kastner works on college application.

*Jane,

Jane,
Best wishes to a nice girl, even though I don't know you. Good luck
"Ken Whitaker"

In today's political mayhem a knowledge of political philosophies and tactics aids one in understanding the world situation. Our social science students are taking history and analyzing the mistakes of past governmental concepts. With a knowledge of these mistakes they may then relate history to present occurrences and perhaps contribute to the general good of mankind.

Teachers get together to relax at informal tea.

History students learn

*Best teacher

Who told you I can teach the Civil War by memory?

of nation's background

Miss Jo Ann Easley, an A. B. graduate from Coker College, teaches U. S. History and European History Survey. She sponsors the Valkyries and enjoys traveling, politics and sewing.

Moke sure you have read chopters 20 ond 21 by tomorrow.

Mr. William A. Ellis holds a B. A. degree from Wake Forest University and East Carolina University. He teaches U. S. History and World Cultures and sponsors the N. O. W. Club. Comping, Jaycees and reading are his special interests.

Foreign languages can

If the relationship between countries were improved peace would be much more probable. To improve the relationship between countries one must understand the people of countries foreign to his own. The study of foreign languages gives great insight into other peoples. A foreign language student learns of a people's culture and customs. Through the study of literature and history, he learns of other governments and religions. Hence he can discern foreign influence on America.

Mr. John W. Ashburn holds both a B. A. and a M. A. degree and has attended Wake Forest and Appalachian State Universities. He teaches Spanish I and II and sponsors the Spanish Club. Mining, geology, and home design and construction are his special interests.

Mrs. Lazelle M. Northrop, an A. B. graduate of Greensboro College, has also studied at the University of Paris: Sorbonne. She is chairman of the senior class sponsors and teaches French and English. She enjoys reading, gardening, and travel.

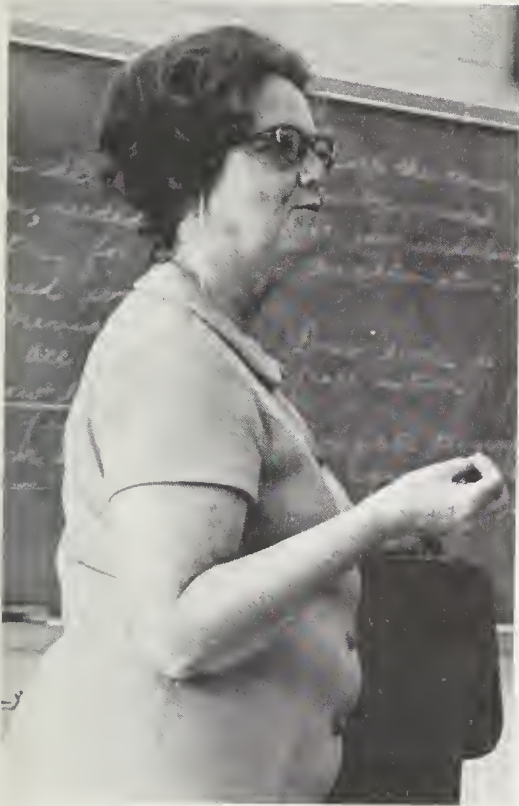

An instructor of Spanish II, III, and IV, Miss Eloise Teague has a B. S. degree from Appalachian State University. She has done graduate work at East Carolina University and Georgetown University. She enjoys sewing, swimming, tennis and bridge.

In Spanish they are "los zapatos de tenis" and in French, "les souliers de tennis."

improve understanding

Miss Virginia Langley, an instructor of Latin, English, mythology and world literature, has studied at Duke University and received her B. A. degree from Salem College. She enjoys horseback riding, reading and traveling in her spare time.

Graduation '69 — at last!

Mrs. Nancy Corriher teaches French II and III. A B. A. graduate of UNC-G, she sponsors the French Club. Reading, cooking, and sewing are her leisure time activities.

Science students study

Does one beat the dust out of the rug or the rug out of the dust? Ask the students in physics or chemistry. In the Space Age the sciences have become very important. The laws of physics, the movements of electrons and the conditions in which life may exist are all vital areas of learning. Our science students examined these laws and many more. The students became aware of the necessity of studying science and of its role in our daily lives.

Mrs. Caroline S. Young, an instructor of biology and physics, attained her B. S. degree from Wake Forest University and her Master's Degree from Duke University. She sponsors the Science Club.

Mrs. Wynona Butner teaches chemistry and sponsors the Photographic Arts Society. She has a B. S. degree and has attended Western Carolina University, Wake Forest University and the University of Miami. In her spare time she enjoys homemaking, reading and sewing.

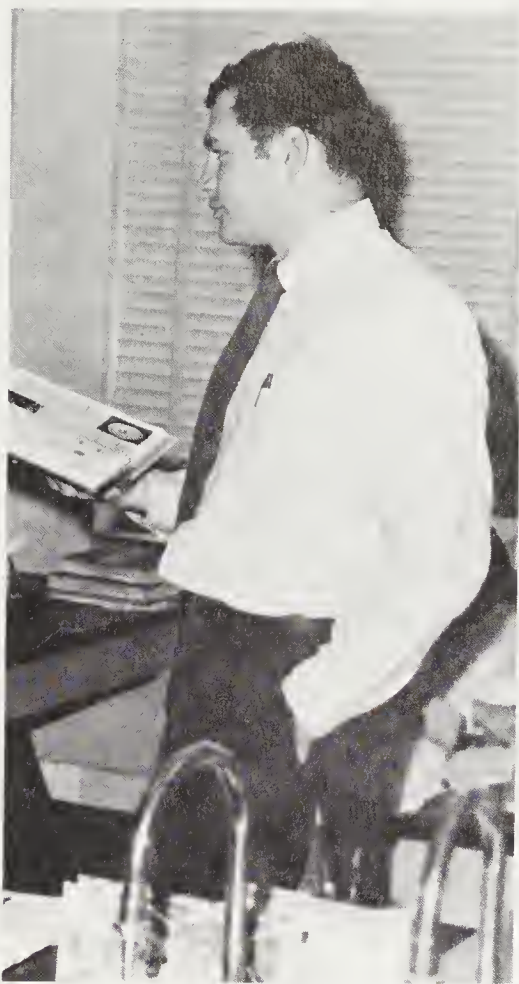

An instructor of biology and family living, Mrs. Sara Frick received her B. S. degree from Winthrop College and Wake Forest University. She sponsors the sophomore class and the Pro Humanitate Organization. She devotes her spare time to her family and flowers.

data for the space age

Mrs. Natalie Rogers holds a B. A. degree from the University of Maine and she is also a registered nurse. She teaches B. S. C. S. Biology, general biology, geology and Anatomy and Physiology. She sponsors the Chess Club and enjoys her family and reading.

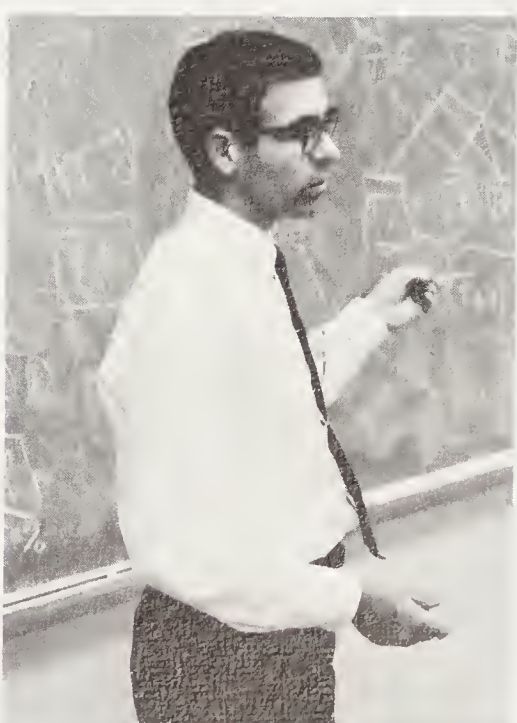

Mauldin to Bracey to Goins. An A. B. graduate of Duke University, Mr. Herbert Gains replaces Mr. Mauldin teaching biology and American history.

Mr. Larry Cranfill graduated from Guilford College and holds a B. S. degree. He teaches physical science and biology.

Mrs. Linda Sherard teaches biology. She holds a B. A. degree and has attended Winthrop College, Clemson University and Wake Forest University. Her interests include antiquing and cooking.

Mr. Bert E. Hollifield acquired his B. S. degree and his Masters of Education from UNC-CH. He teaches biology and remedial math. He enjoys photography and nature study in his spare time.

Proofs teach students

Thinking clearly and logically is an advantage at all times no matter what the situation. In math courses students are taught to prove theorems. These proofs must be set up in a logical order. The student must think for himself, taking all he already knows and choosing the right facts from his knowledge to prove the theorem. Mathematics is vital to careers of engineering or medicine but it is also vital to train people to think.

Mr. Lyell J. Thomas received his B. A. degree from Berea College and his M. A. from the University of Virginia. He also studied at the University of Virginia and Wake Forest University. He teaches geometry and general math and sponsors the R. C. C.

Mrs. Linda H. Gragg is a B. S. graduate of Appalachian State University. She teaches Algebra I and geometry.

Mr. Doug Wall, Algebra II and geometry instructor, received his B. S. degree from Appalachian State University. He coaches basketball and enjoys golf.

Mrs. Aurilia P. Watson teaches general math, Algebra II and plane geometry. She attended Virginia Union University and A and T College and has a B. S. degree. She sponsors the Y-Teens and enjoys sewing and reading.

Mrs. Sylvia G. Chadwick, an East Carolina University graduate, holds both her A. B. and M. A. degrees. She teaches general math, geometry and Algebra II.

to think more logically

Miss Eugenia McNew acquired her A. B. degree from Solem College. She teaches fifth year math, fourth year math and geometry. She sponsors the National Honor Society.

Mrs. Lucile J. Speas teaches Algebra II and intermediate algebra and trigonometry. She received her A. B. and M. E. from UNC-G and Wake Forest University. She sponsors the senior class. Gardening is her special interest.

An instructor of Algebra I and general math, Mr. D. Colon Nifong received his B. S. and M. A. from Appalachian State University. He coaches football and golf and enjoys hunting and golf in his spare time.

*I am,
I wish other people knew

Art, music encourage

"Seventy-six trombones in the big parade."

Mr. Neal Haworth, head of the Music Department, sponsors the marching and concert bands, the Starlighters, Chorus I and II, the Advanced Chorus, the Color Guard, Majorettes and the Valkyries. He holds a B. A. and a Masters of Music Education from Carson Newman College, the University of Tennessee and North Texas State University.

Mixed Chorus I rehearses for assembly.

What do you mean the band's on strike?

expression in students

This is art?

*I hope I'll see you next year at North!
You'll know what I'm saying. Don't look back. Because when you look back you sure miss North.
Best wishes and Best of Luck in the future.

Art and music have gained much recognition in today's society. Both are important mediums in which one may express his ideas. Art offers many ways from block printing to collages to express one's ideas. Music is just as broad with its jazy blues, its marches and its chorales. The challenge of creating and expressing is always present.

Mrs. Barbara A. Rayster holds an A. B. degree from UNC-G and UNC-CH. She teaches remedial math, Art I and Art II. She sponsors the Art Club and the majorettes. She enjoys painting, sewing, ball-games and tennis.

Art students create.

Mr. D. W. McCulloch teaches Art I, II, III, and IV. He has attended High Point College and UNC-G and holds a B. A. degree. He sponsors the Art Club and enjoys sailing, guns and shooting, reading and music.

Students acquire useful experience

In the cantemporary world many things are expressed in blueprints. An understanding af these would be val- uable to anyone, especially if he were interested in engineering.

Mechanical drawing students learn the techniques of drawing and reading blueprints, as well as the use af various toals far intricate drawing.

You have mare sparks than me!

Mr. Carl B. Shaw, a B. S. graduate from Appalachian State University, teaches mechanical drawing and remedial math. His special interests are hunting and fishing.

Mr. Charles E. Jarvis teaches vacation- al agriculture, agricultural machinery and equipment, forestry and harkiculture. He holds a B. S. fram Mars Hill and Berea Colleges. He spansars the F. F. A. and enjoys golf and gardening.

Mr. Charles Selle holds a B. S. degree from N. C. State University and a M. E. degree from UNC-G. He teaches agricultural science and me- chanics, agricultural construction and crops and soil technology. He sponsors the F. F. A. and enjoys golf, reading, gardening and bridge.

Voc. Arts gives practical knowledge

Jane, I have been really knowing you for a long time but you know quite a few people want to know you! Be good Jane and we have had quite a few heavy times together. Be good Jane.

The practical knowledge of home-making is useful to any girl. The practices involved in cooking, sewing and interior decorating are among the many facets of homemaking taught in vocational arts. Others include child care and consumer education.

Mrs. Eugenia J. Woodall, an A. B. graduate from Elon College, teaches Home Economics II and III, Food and Nutrition, and Clothing and Textiles. She sponsors the F. H. A. and enjoys cooking and cake decorating.

Mrs. Carmen M. Dawkins, an instructor of Home Economics I and family life education, holds a B. S. from Meredith College and a Masters in Religious Education from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. She sponsors the Y-Teens and enjoys homemaking.

Mrs. Agnes N. Rehn acquired her B. S. degree from Drexel Institute of Technology. She teaches Home Economics and sponsors the F. H. A. Her special interests include camping, traveling, gardening and cooking.

Good grooming can be fun.

Everyone is going to work sometime. If bookkeeping or secretarial work interests one, this is the department to come to.

Typing is an advantage for anyone, but office practice is not just typing. Bookkeeping, shorthand, business law, office machines, record keeping and accounting are among the other subjects.

Mrs. Joan H. Hester teaches bookkeeping, office practice and office machines, personal typing, shorthand, and record keeping. She holds a B. B. R. A. from Wake Forest University and a M. A. from George Peabody College. She sponsors the Y-Teens.

Mrs. Coleen A. Furches, a B. S. graduate of Appalachian State University, teaches Shorthand I and II and Typing II. She sponsors the F. B. L. A.

Mrs. Betty H. Speas acquired her B. S. degree from Appalachian State University. She teaches Typing I and record keeping.

and polishes job skills

Co-op girls attend classes and maintain jobs.

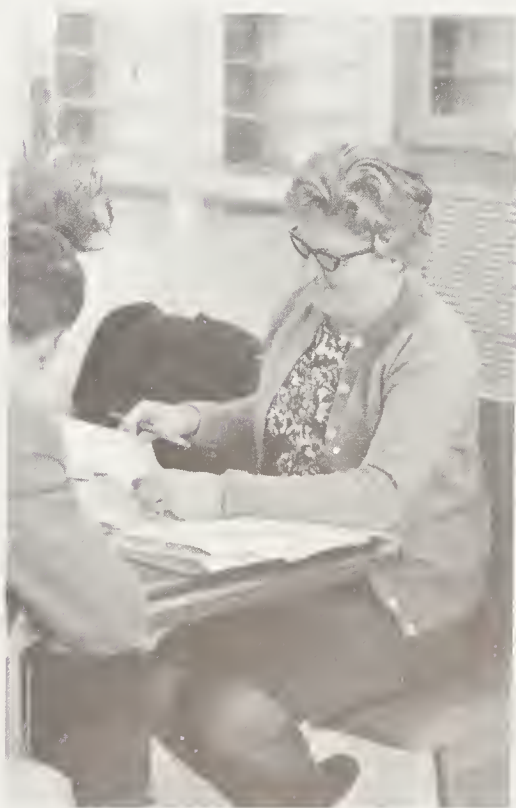

Mr. Berrier aids students with directions.

Mr. Thomas W. Berrier holds a B. S. degree from Appalachian State University and a Masters in Education from UNC-G. He teaches related office practice and bookkeeping and accounting. He sponsors the F. B. L. A.

Mr. Robert R. Burris attained his B. S. degree from Appalachian State University. He teaches Typing I, business law and business organization. He sponsors J. V. football, basketball, and baseball. His special interests are golf and fishing.

Mrs. Martha B. Hix, an instructor of Typing I and math, holds a B. S. S. A. degree from UNC-G. She enjoys her family, tennis and bridge.

Beginners take the wheel

The beginner will soon be sixteen. He can't wait to get behind the wheel to be able to drive the family car, but first he must take classroom drivers' training. He wants to drive, not read and answer questions. He learns the law and how to understand signs; then he moves to mobile unit. It's still not driving, it's simulation. He finally moves to a car and if he passes the test, he only has to wait until he's sixteen.

Are you ready for new adventures again today?

Whot do I do first?

Mr. Norman P. Barringer, an A. B. graduate of Catawba College, teaches driver education. He sponsors the Manogram Club and coaches baseball and football. His special interests are hunting and fishing.

Mr. Gurney W. Johnson, an instructor of driver education, holds a B. S. degree and a M. A. degree from Appolochian State University.

P.E. Dept. stresses agility

Mr. William L. Hayes holds a B. S. degree from North Carolina College at Durham. He teaches physical education and U. S. History. He sponsors the weight lifting program and coaches football and track. He enjoys sports and travel.

Mr. Gray Cartwright, a graduate of High Point College, holds a B. S. degree. He teaches physical education and coaches J. V. football, Varsity basketball, and intramural sports. His special interests are sports, travel and bridge.

Anxiety!

Mrs. Teresa McDowell teaches physical education. A B. S. graduate of Pfeiffer College, she sponsors the G. A. A. and coaches girls' basketball and softball. She enjoys sports in general.

Mrs. Ruth G. Halsey attained her B. S. degree from A and T University. She teaches physical education, sponsors the G. A. A. and coaches speedball and volleyball. Her special interest is dancing.

Physical fitness is an asset for any individual. A strong body leads the way to a better mind. Physical Education involves many facets of sports plus general calisthenics. Gymnastics, basketball, football and wrestling are only a few. The new gym has added to the program by providing more room thus allowing for better classes with less crowded conditions. The main goals of the P. E. student are agility and co-ordination.

Library: North's 'Quiet Zone'

Mrs. Lou Brock is the assistant librarian. She sponsors the Library Club and enjoys sports and reading.

Mrs. Ruby Sizemore is the library secretary. She also helps with the Library Club. Her special interests are camping, gardening and sports.

My book report is due tomorrow.

Literature is the best way to learn of life when one can never experience everything. The library contains the necessary materials for one to do so. There are novels on most any subject, biographies of distinguished persons, and anthologies of great literature. The librarians are always willing to help, but one must be quiet while others work.

Mrs. Eleanor C. Hagaman is the librarian. She holds a B. S. and a Master's degree from Appalachian State University. She sponsors the Library Club and enjoys reading and traveling.

Provides business experience

Burdette*

Mr. Louie F. Beck, an instructor of distributive education and marketing, holds a B. S. degree from Appalachian State University. He sponsors D. E. C. A. and enjoys golf.

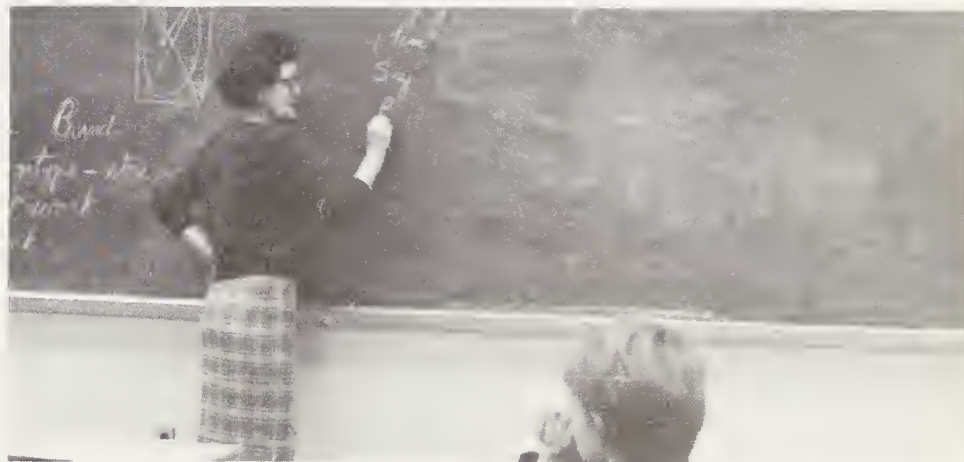

Jobs through D. E. and I. C. T. are rewarding.

The Distributive Education and Industrial Co-operative Training programs provide on-the-job training for the students involved. The students attend classes for half the day and then report to work. Their jobs are obtained through the leadership and guidance of the D. E. and I. C. T. leaders. The actual business experience received through this program provides the student with a better understanding of business and better opportunity for a future in the business world.

Mr. Benjamin S. Neill, Jr., a B. S. graduate from Wake Forest University, teaches industrial cooperative training and U. S. History. He sponsors V. I. C. A. and his special interests are the stock market and government.

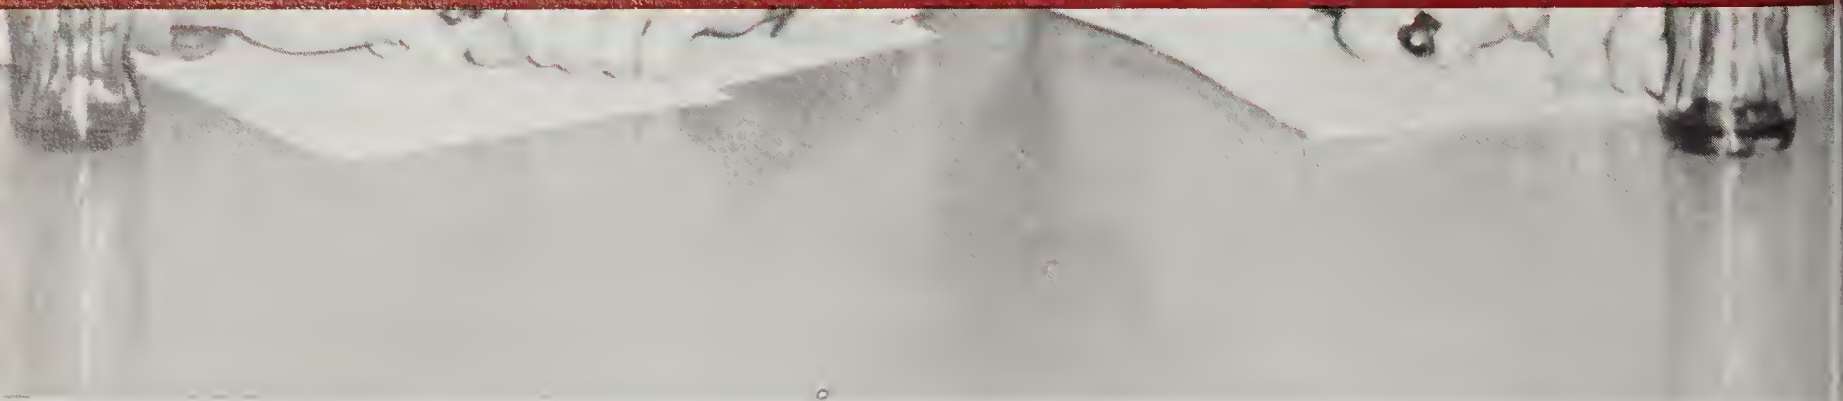

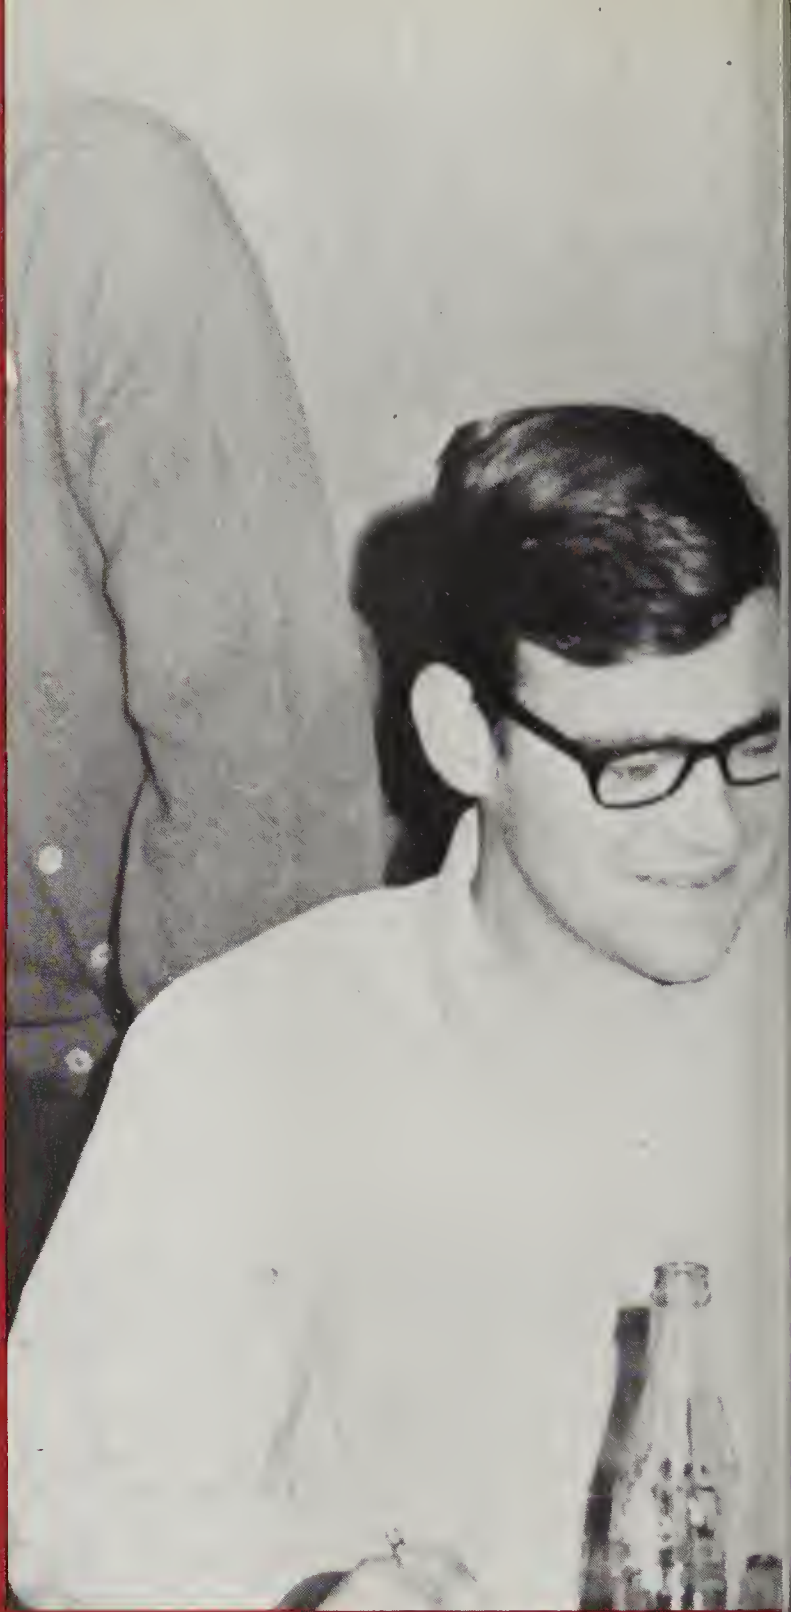

Miss Burdette outlines order for advertising.

Miss Ruth Burdette teaches distributive education and marketing. She holds an A. B. in social science and an A. B. in commercial science as well as a M. B. A. degree. She sponsors the D. E. Club and enjoys reading in her spare time.

Aurilla Hatcher is pleased to be a member of the National Honor Society.

Fellowship, Leadership and Service

Devona Ingram finds time to work in the office when she is not studying to make good grades.

The National Honor Society is the most select honor society available to North students. Candidates for the organization must have maintained a 3.4 scholastic average in high school and must be approved by the faculty for admittance into the organization. The names of the members are then sent to Washington and placed on a list of members from all over the nation. These names remain on the list until the scholastic averages of members fall below 3.4. If a student maintains the average, his name remains on the roll forever.

Brenda Wilkins and Debro Albert find time to talk over school work and after-school plans.

The North Forsyth High School Band worked very hard this year to raise money and to polish a performance for The Greatest Band in Dixie Contest at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. By achieving fifth place the band reflected honorably on North's name and made way for similar trips in the future. The yearbook editors wish to congratulate Mr. Haworth and the band for their outstanding service to North.

After weeks of practice February 14th arrives and the band performs the show for fellow students before boarding buses.

Co-operation at work . . .

Many seniors help in making the float for their last Homecoming as students.

The work and the planning involved in carrying out the annual Homecoming has more to go along with it than most students realize. But with efficient sponsors and people ready to work, Homecoming becomes a reality. Committees sent invitations to alumni, students decorated the float on which the court would ride and the bits and pieces of "The Loveliest Night of the Year" fell into place.

Viking defense prepares for action.

The Vikings traveled to North Mecklenburg for their first game. Despite the loss, Gene Bowles thrilled fans with a forty-four yard touchdown run. North got its first taste of victory at Greensboro Smith. Keith Moore's passing, Jason Caldwell's receiving and Gene Bowles' running highlighted the victory. The team also defeated High Point thanks to the running of C. C. Brewer and Gene Bowles.

Much to the delight of loyal Vikings, North romped over rival East Forsyth. A pass interception by Billy Soots highlighted the game.

VICTORY!

North has yet to saddle the mustangs of Parkland in football. Despite two costly fumbles North pulled up to tie Parkland 13 to 13.

The Atkins Camels defeated the Vikings. North played a great first half, but ran out of steam in the second. The team regained its strength when a fifty yard run by Gene Bowles led North to a victory over Burlington.

Homecoming was capped by a winning game. The team fought hard and well to defeat the West Titans 20 to 14.

Vikings demolish West

The BLITZ!

North threw a scare into the Black Demons of Reynolds. A tremendous Viking defense kept the Demon's scoring to twenty-eight points below their average. Mike Alexander, Ray James, Alfred Harvey, Mike Thomas and Harry Howell were defensive stand-outs. In the game against George Washington of Virginia, Ernest Priddy's blocking and Gene Bowles' running were highlights. However, the number two team of Virginia romped North.

The Vikings ended the season with a 5-4-1 record. The season had many high moments. North upset every Central 4-A Group II team they played and without a doubt North had a winning team.

are finest in the area

Phew!

The Cross Country team was the best ever at North. Few students realized the success of the C. C. team. The harriers finished sixth in the western district, missing by only one place a chance for the state finals.

Coaches Brent, Omdahl and Hayes were also pleased with the performance of the track team. Their only wish was that more students would attend and take more interest in track and field events.

Hail the 3:15 joggers.

Varsity and junior varsity wrestlers vie against each other in practice session.

North Forsyth's 1968-1969 wrestling team was a young one with much potential. Senior Byron Hooker played a large role in the team's success. Gene Pack and Roland Carrol also proved themselves very adept in their weight classes. Under Mr. Barringer's patient coaching each member of the team developed skills in coordination and muscular development.

Even a head stand beats shoulders on the mat.

Balance, poise . . . oops!

"Go North High! Go!"

In the fall of 1968 nine sophomore girls were selected to be junior varsity cheerleaders. The girls chose Betty Mabe, chief and Susie Ball, co-chief. The squad led cheers at Baby Viking games and supported the teams and North in every way.

STUDENTS

Senior Council, officers

There were mixed feelings in the hearts of many students as they reached senior status. They were happy about being seniors, but afraid of the world looming largely in front of them. But as the year drew to a close, the seniors grew more aware of themselves and of the part of the Viking spirit which had become a part of them.

Sophomore class officers help baby Vikings find

The class of '71 did not wait to show the upperclassmen that they, too, were Vikings. From the first of the year they proved themselves an integral part of North High.

Vice-president John Armstrong searches for new class projects.

Does treasurer Susie Ball use class money for bookmarks?

Why she cut her photo out, I'm not sure, guess she didn't like it, still you see how many people liked her, said she was sweet, well liked, this soon would change ways to become part of North . . .

Vikings show pride in

Perhaps the most exciting events during the last few weeks of school were the junior and senior proms. Juniors worked frantically trying to get decorations done on time. But they were rewarded for their hard work. Their creation provided a stunning backdrop for the kaleidoscope of long, pastel dresses, dinner jackets, and enthusiastic smiles; all of which are painted permanently in the memory of each person who attended.

Some people will do anything to get out of class.

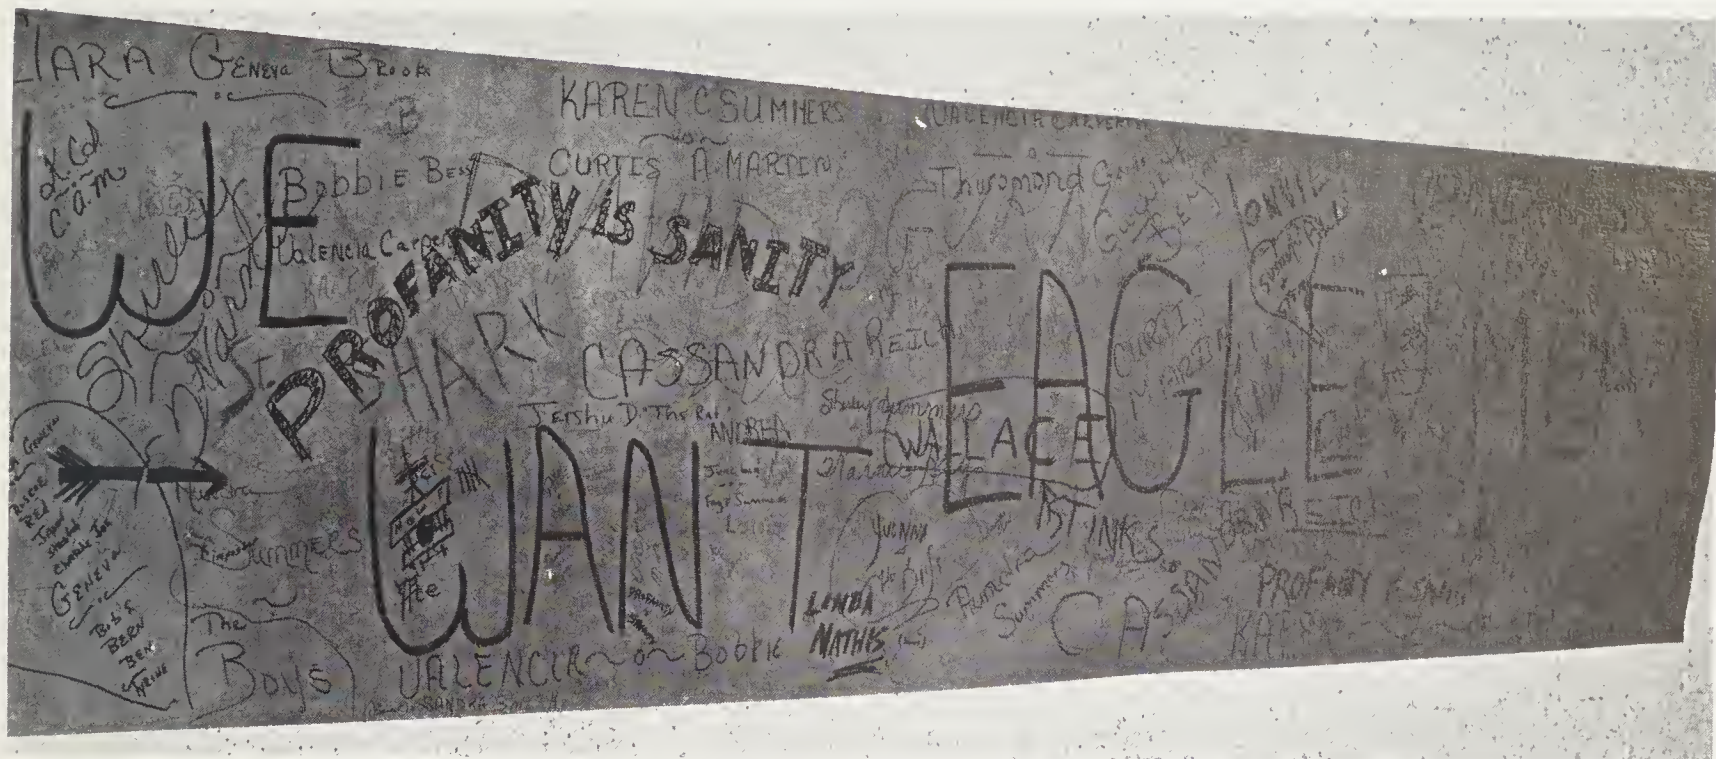

From protests . . .

. . . to patriotism.

traditions and progress

Cries of "We want Eagle meat" will forever ring in North's holls.

Crommed study sessions make way for . . .

. . . time to clown around.

Students make plans with friends

As the year ends students look back

The year was rapidly drawing to its close and spirits were soaring. Parties to celebrate the close of school were given by excited students. Plans were made for beach trips and final acceptances from colleges began to trickle into the flowing mail. Wouldn't it seem funny when all school activities were ended?

At the end of the day . . . the end of the year . . .

. . . Vikings feel pride in school . . .

. . . and feel sorrow in leaving the halls of North.

thoughtfully

Editor's note

Tonight as we wrap up the 1969 Cynosure, it seems impossible that the climax we have looked forward to all year has finally come. A typewriter is still clacking its way through final bits of copy, last-minute pictures are being cropped and the layouts are being revised or tediously recopied to conform to a last-minute check. The tension of the encroaching deadline is keeping everyone going a little later than usual.

It's been quite a year for the Cynosure. It started with a two-day session with Mr. C. M. Layman, Jr., Mrs. Lowder and myself; and tomorrow it will end at Hunter's when we submit our materials. Between September and February there has been a steady stream of events. The arrival of class rings, the taking of class pictures and teachers' candids, homecoming, exams, honor grads and Mardi Gras kept us constantly on the run.

Thursday night sessions on the floor at Mrs. Lowder's house resulted in finished pictures and daily sessions in the journalism work room resulted in stacks of completed copy. Finally we got to the panic point, and the versatility of my five associates came through.

Special "thank you's" go to Steve and Debbie for stepping in to take sports pictures when they were so desperately needed.

To Devona for typing copy as well as writing and editing it.

To Terry for counting the units in nearly every headline in the book.

To Debra for faithfully checking layouts and licking photo envelopes.

To Sara and Brenda for continuous moral support and assurance.

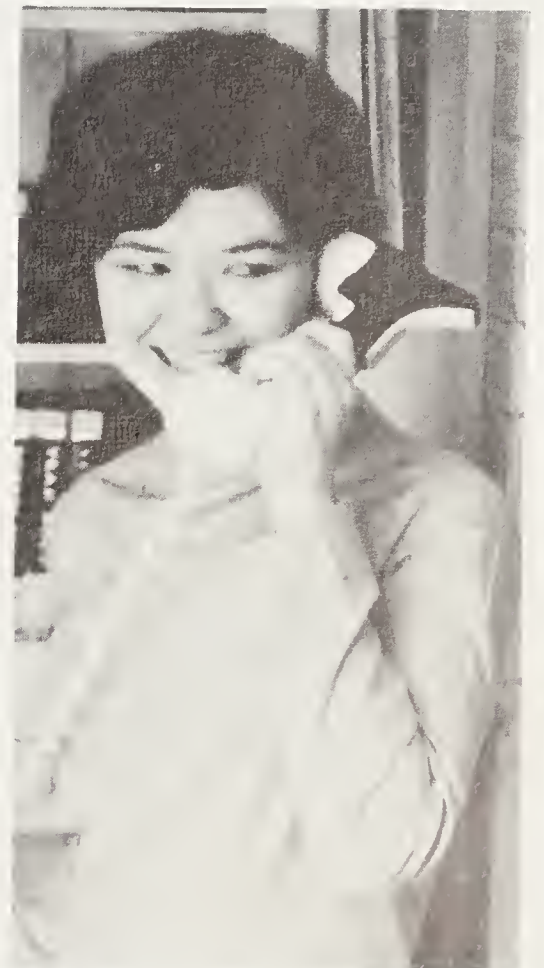

I wouldn't know how to thank everyone for their help this year; I can only hope that they'll be rewarded by the result of their efforts. Commendations go to Bill Ray, Holyfield Studios, Chris Coley, Patricia Mickey and especially to Mr. Paul Hepler who took so many pictures for us.

A personal thank-you to my parents and Mrs. Lowder and Mr. Gibson for their patience and understanding.

The typewriter is quiet now and most of the staff has gone home. The finished work has been slowly piled onto the table since I started writing this. The clock is striking twelve so it's time to go home and sleep, for a change.

Jane Shermer

P. S. — On behalf of the entire school, we'd like to congratulate Ann Wood for the excellent rating achieved on the 1968 Cynosure.

Memories of experiences, however good, cannot replace the original experiences. As late winter developed into spring, seniors at North Forsyth realized suddenly that soon memories would be all they had left of their high school days. Lumps that would not be swallowed began to form in the throats of seniors who sang, "North Star, whose flame burns crimson, white, and blue..." It seemed odd that the headaches and worries about class dues and other money problems, the trouble of making an invitation list, the academic worries of senior subjects were pushed one by one from the minds of the 500 seniors as their thoughts turned to graduation exercises, receiving diplomas, and singing their Alma Mater for the last time as students of North Forsyth.

And they were concerned, too, about that certain part of each of them which would still be at North after they were gone; the elusive, abstract part of them which would remain as a part of the heritage, the tradition of their school. Whatever spirit they had shown or pride they had displayed were credits to both themselves and the school.

The image of the Viking of old stood firmly before them to help them remember that they, too, were Vikings. The staunch, unwavering giant whose name they claim as their own set a precedent with his being they often felt obliged—or privileged—to follow. Traditions were altered to meet the ever-changing needs of the individuals that make up the class of '69, and new ones were established for those who would assume the role of seniors in the years to come.

In the course of their efforts, not only the seniors but all of the Vikings tried hard to meet each new event with the spirit bequeathed to them by their Viking forefathers. As is true with any group striving for a common goal, some were more successful than others. But in their attempts to make North a better school, the Viking spirit reared its head.

Jane, been nice seeing you at North this year. Hope I'll see you again next year. Rick

Now in keeping with that spirit, the Vikings of North Forsyth look to the future with that delicate mixture of pride and humility which promises its bearer a meaningful place in the world. With courage, determination, and the abundance of hope which belongs only to those who are young, they face tomorrow, knowing that it is a tomorrow they must form for themselves.

Hi Jane! It's been a great year being in your class. You are lucky you will be again next year. See you this summer. Best of luck always! Love ya! Janella Shouse

future & a little from a little.

Jane,
It's been great
knowing you in history
you're a sweet girl with a good personality. Have a nice summer.
Best wishes

Jane,
It's been great knowing such
a sweet girl as you.
We've had some good times in gym
of this year and will probably have some good times next year. Hope you have a great summer.
See you next year. Jane

Dear Jamie,
You're a real sweet
girl. you can go a long way. I hope you make a great nice summer.
I wish you luck. See you next year. Love,
Linda Wolf

Jane,
It's been wonderful knowing a great and funny girl. I hope to see you next.
Good Luck
Calvin

It's been nice
being in your Biology class. Have fun this summer. Randy Martin

Best Wishes!
